Leadership in Justice

Learn to Lead in a Complex Environment

The justice field operates in multicultural, technological and collaborative settings. Salve Regina University's graduate certificate in leadership in justice positions practitioners for leadership success in complex and rapidly changing environments.

To reduce and manage crime while facing staffing and budget challenges, protect the public, improve community perceptions and build service-oriented cultures within agencies and departments, justice professionals need to continually hone their knowledge and skills. Establishing and maintaining high standards of integrity and ethical values is also critical to leading in a way that reflects the values and mission of their organizations and the communities they serve. Our program develops the innovative skills needed to keep practitioners at the forefront of their profession.

Our leadership in justice courses are taught by seasoned professionals who are experts in their field. Instructors work closely with students to meet their individual needs while serving as career-focused mentors, helping students build their professional network.

Who Will Benefit?

The leadership in justice certificate is designed for professionals who hold a bachelor's or master's degree and are seeking professional development in topics crucial to meeting the needs of their communities while building resilient professional organizations. Students in good academic standing who would like to continue their studies may apply to the M.S. in criminal justice and cybersecurity program and carry the credits forward.
