Dr. Anna Matos-Mournighan

Visiting assistant professor and graduate program director, Department of Business and Economics

“Salve Regina University’s Master of Science in healthcare administration prepares clinical practitioners and administrative professionals with the essential knowledge, skills and competencies to become visionary leaders in the ever-evolving health care industry. Our program seamlessly integrates theory with practical, real-world insight, preparing students to thrive in diverse health care settings and actively contribute to fostering a just, equitable and compassionate health care system.”

THE SALVE DIFFERENCE

CAREER ADVANCEMENT

Our program is ideal for clinicians and administrators looking to advance their careers. Our graduates take on leadership positions across hospitals, physician practice organizations, home care facilities, community health agencies and long-term care facilities.

IACBE ACCREDITED

Accredited by the International Accreditation Council for Business Education, Salve Regina’s master’s degree program offers the advantage of being taught by faculty with real-world leadership experience in health care organizations.

FLEXIBLE AND AFFORDABLE

Most coursework can be completed asynchronously and at your own pace - easily accommodating the busy schedules of working professionals. Our per-course cost is lower than most state universities, and employees in partner organizations receive an additional 10% discount.

Nicole Paliotti '19 (M)

Clinical outreach manager, Aware Recovery Care

“After deciding to make a career change, I opted for Salve’s healthcare administration program, which gave me a strong foundation and understanding of health care. Able to work full-time while attending classes through a convenient, flexible hybrid model, I learned about health care operations, policy, ethics and public health. Since graduating in 2019, I have worked in hospital administration, public health and now as a clinical outreach manager in the substance use disorder field.”

Morgan Shuey '22, '24 (M)

Admissions director, 603 Healthcare

“The healthcare administration program at Salve builds the skills you need to be a leader in the industry. It covers law, ethics, finance, human resources, nursing - things you need to understand to interact with an entire care team. I chose to complete the cybersecurity concentration because the health care industry continues to be a prime target for cyberattacks. Having that background is beneficial, not only for me but for any organization I work for.”
